THESES RESPONDENTIS.

THESIS. I. Qui putant homines parum vel omnino nihil quod ad ingenii vires ac animi dispositionem inter se differre, educationique soli tribuendam esse omnem quæ inter illos observatur diversitatem; parum probabiliter philosophantur.

THESIS. II. Educationem tamen, ad mores hominum conformandos, non minus quam naturalem mentis eorum dispositionem conferre, experientia testatur.

THESIS. III. Juvenes literarum studiosos, utilia olim Reipublicæ membra futuros, non solum artium & scientiarum suo instituto necessariorum sibi peritiam comparare oportet, sed etiam cum moribus honestis tum indefesso labori animum adsvescere.

THESIS. IV. Pauci sunt qui in rebus in vita humana occurrentibus, quid verum sit, quidque falsum, suo ipsi iudicio expendant ac perspiciant; sed quæ ab aliis pro veris vel falsis haberi didicerunt, ea & ipsi pro veris falsive habent, non modo tadiofam sed & periculosam existimantes veritatis diligentem explorationem; haud memores periculi cui se gravissimo exponunt, cum cœcæ alienæ auctoritati fidem mancipant.

THESIS. V. In alienis tamen cogitatis cognoscendis & expendendis exerceri nobis opus esse, ut ea ratione recte ipsi cogitare discamus, negare haud licet.

THESIS. VI. Alia ratione cognitionem linguæ Latinæ & Græcæ plenam consequi haud licet, nisi Auctorum classicorum assidua atque attentata lectio.

THESIS. VII. In quo tamen studio ordinem quendam observare oportet, ut auctor unus ad fructuosam alterius lectionem quasi viam muniat.

THESIS. VIII. Turpis illa de Magia, quam vocant, Dæmoniaca, & pacto quodam cum Diabolo inito opinio, (ignorantiæ & superstitionis factus) quam sit sanæ philosophiæ contraria, difficile haud est intellectui; quo magis videri mirum debet, esse qui eam sine Religionis periculo, cum qua tamen nihil sane communionis habet, contemni non posse atque explodi putent; qui sine dubio ignorant, illam olim Doctoribus Ecclesiæ Christianæ adeo non placuisse, ut plurimum etiam Conciliorum canonibus pro falsa opinione & errore paganorum declarata fuerit, ac de hominibus qui talibus rebus veritatem inesse crederent pronunciatum sit eos fidem perdidisse.
